Dearest Martha,

I would like to drop you a line to let you know that I am still madly in love with you & that you know that I love you a lot. I hope that will mean a chance.

We had a baseball game today. And I had a lot of fun. We also won a game. And I should be very happy to play with you. The weather was nice in the afternoon so we had a good game.

Tonight I am going to a dance & have a couple drinks of beer. You are one of the boys I work with & going home. And we are going to have a good time tonight. I hope he does as he is a good boy & I think he is a lot. So that is why I am so short letter. I hope you will understand.

I got a nice long letter from my Father today. The fireplace is a block.

So you have to write your letters by candle light, well, they turned the lights off on us last night and I wonder if we'll be able to write you. Only the sun is up now and it's still light at 10 o'clock. That's one good thing about England. But does it get dark fast in the winter.

In this letter you sound a little mad at the school. And talk about giving it up. Well, I hope that's all out of your head. If any of it is still there I'll have to kick it out. For you the weekends are sacred you must not stop. You better not. I will stop writing if you do. That is a promise. And if you lie to me about it I will never talk to you again. Anything I say is true. I want little mad at the idea of you quitting. That is only what it looks like.

I will now be looking forward to the time when you let me about the love of ours. I hope I could do a couple good things to it but I hope we both have the chance.

So you got the Yankees for the N.H. Chap. Well I got the Browns. If you don't the all-star game we have this in July. I would like the N.H. and two fine dates I bet. Write me about that.

You are really the right girl to Robie home steps. I will always remember that night. I never wanted you so much. But then you had to. And also I did. I hope the next time we both can stay out long. Anyhow I gotta hit Seattle again. And I think you know what this is. So until I see you my own heart be full of my love for you. As I got too much from not say it all. Love always.

Dick.
