My Dearest One,

This is the first letter of June that I am writing. And you are the first one in June. Do you know June 5th will be our 2 years just 1½ years right on the nose. I wonder how much longer it will be.

Well yesterday was pay day, and of course it's always a happy day as it's always good to get there at his you probably get pay just as not gone yet though.

Last night I did not go out I wanted to but we had to check on records. So this is all week we could not get out of camp. But I think I will go in tonight.

Last night we had a dance on the field and a couple of the boys went up & have a little beer. I had a glass full.

I meet by who is the Chaplain's assistance. He had a girl who he has been going with for 2 years. Well she brought her sister along. So he asked me to help him out.

I don't think I did a good job last. I did have a fair time. Almost like the first date we had. That I will never forget. His we looked so old and she was engaged. So if I see Dennis Christmas I will ask if I never did go out with anybody like that.

So long good boy last night the weather has been getting warmer in the morning. And it makes it easier to get up in the morning.

I see by your letter that my smile is your smile. But I smile at you more than anybody else.

I am really glad to know that you made some good, fair very good grades. When you get any grades like that you are out of my class. And I see no use for you to go out with me. You are in the same class as my brother.

But if you don't make those grades I would never speak to you again. I was just fooling with you before. I am really glad you made those grades. I guess my grades are being averaged. Now if I get a couple more every thing would be all right. And I think you know what they are.

You never tell me much about your Aunt in Buffalo. But then we never began much about each other family. That we will have to make up for.

I did not hear those songs you wrote me about "Dreams" & Sentimental Journey: I will have to keep an eye open for them. You always tell me which one's to listen to. I hope you keep it up.

Right now they are playing the song "You are so Sweet to Remember": that song is old by but not bad.

My Sweet may your dreams all come true. For I know that if they come true, it will be good for me. As your dreams are my dreams.

Take care of yourself & my heart

Love

Kay
