

4330 Arco
St Louis.

Mr. D. T. Hoffmaster Jr.

1627 Hoyt.

Indianapolis (3)
Indiana

Jan. 22, 1948
12 P.M.

My Dearest,

I guess you would like to know what I have done. I am writing ~~with that yellow paper.~~
I think that it is the only paper you left me. But I will get more at home.
I call Mon and I will be there. They, Dad & Ray, will stop by, ^{after bowing} and will take home the food and me.

Vi. called and she was surprised to hear that you were gone. I think she wanted some thing from the store.

I told the milkman
that I will have him know when I start milk again.

The man on the radio said more snow and give 5
night. I will have a hard time with that sign. He said that we had 2 inches of snow so far. I guess you had a lot dig there.

Mother said that they are taking Grandpa & the Doctor.
 That's the new doctor. I do not know how to spell his name. So I will leave it go.
 They told him that the Doctor wants to talk about Grandmother's foot. That is the only way they can get him there.
 That will be tomorrow at 3 o'clock.
 So I will have to get the dope from mother.

I washed all the dishes when I got home. After I cleaned the side walk off. That was a job. Oh yes, they are caught Grandpa cleaning the side walk. you just can not keep him down.

Back to the dishes. I got all the stuff we had last night in the oven. And I will have food for dinner.
I am getting hungry you know me. I got rid of the cake & cookies though.
so the place will be pretty cleaned out when you get home. I left a couple eggs here in case I come back for the mail.

the only other paper is
the paper with pinhole scores on. So here I am with this stuff.

I guess I will go see Grandmother this after noon as I will not see her over the weekend.

I hope I don't cook the stuff to long. I did not want it in a pot. as I have to clean pots. or do I have to tell you that? No laughing.

I better close now.
I better picture stating

so I can keep up with
you. I would of died laughing if you fell
last night after seeing saying you can skate.

I miss you a lot.
Hope your foot is ok.

so I will see you
soon. you can hold
anything you want.

Your loving husband
Ollie (The skater)