Saturday Eve
11⁰⁰ p.m.

Ollie, my love, it's pretty late and I'm pretty tired - but I just wanted to let you know I was thinking about you.

Last night while I was writing you - daddy said something to me and I didn't answer and he said "you act like your mind's 500 miles away" - and I just said "no - only 250" - He just grinned.

We've been helping mother house clean and I mean to tell you it's really hard. We've been painting - scrubbing - waxing - polishing - etc - Wow - I'm really tired. I guess I picked the wrong time of year for vacation - but I'm glad to be here to help her. The kids are in school and daddy works every day and that doesn't leave her much help. I told her I wanted to earn my two weeks board and I really can. It will be a relief to get back to the easy life of nursing (am I kidding?)

My little cousin was here all day - he came last night and my aunts and uncles were here tonight to get him. He's about the age of Paul and a cute kid. His mother is the one with the inoperable cancer so he usually spends week ends at our house to give his mother a rest. The doctor usually comes on week ends to tap her and she doesn't like for him to be around when he does. It's rather depressing and he's such a sweet child.

I will leave here Saturday night at 6⁰⁰ p.m. and should arrive in St. Louis about 11 or 11³⁰ if trains are on time. Would you be working then? According to your letter today - you won't be coming this night's way - much to my sorrow - and I can't stay away from you much longer. Of course - I realize that will be pretty late if you aren't working - but we'll be there all day Sunday - before I have to go to work on Monday -

About Emmy - well. I don't like to say anything because it really isn't any of my business - but I think she's taking a rather drastic step that she may regret later. And then it will be too late. Ray doesn't drink excessively and all men in the service will take a drink now and then - any normal human being will - It's just one of those things - So if I were a little fairy - I'd whisper in her ear and tell her what a mistake she's making - Hoffletters are few and far between and she'd better be sure - But don't worry - the two might still get together - just let nature take its course. (You asked my opinion - I told you.)

So Jackie is engaged. Not seems like a very nice girl.

I got a letter from my landlady today and she told me to hurry back. She said I could have at least left her your telephone number so she could have called you - she was so lonesome. Bob left for Oakland, Calif. Wednesday and I guess she's pretty lost. She said she had been going out quite a bit lately - and of course Jayne doesn't stay home much. I guess I'll be staying with her quite a bit after I come back - you'll be getting pretty busy soon. This one in a million and I couldn't have gotten a better place to stay away from Home.

I was talking to mother about the apartment deal and she didn't say anything. but she looked at me real funny - Then I told her I wouldn't consider leaving this woman and she breathed easier again. So I guess she thinks I'd be better off living with this family.

She's been giving me some pep talks lately, too - you know - the usual line - what to do and what not to do.

Hi - that horse back riding deal sounds okay. I haven't ridden for at least a year and it would probably leave me eating off the mantle for a week - but - I never get enough of that wonderful stuff!!!!

I was reading the part in your letter to daddy and mother about Janine dropping her gum on your chest and we all had a big laugh out of it. That I would really like to see. Ah -

I've just washed my hair and taken my bath - so - I'm in my house coat on the floor again. Reminds me of Dec. 12th - what a night. (Pardon me while I run around the block)

What I couldn't do with you tonight!

Don't talk about not making me happy -
I couldn't be happy with anyone else - you know that - you're as much a part of my life as I am - Ollie - I love you so very much - no one else could intpicate me - and I think you know that, too. I needn't remind you of those things -

Tell me about that night when I come back. I really want to hear it -

As usual - mother is talking my arm off again - so I'd better close - besides - this is still volume one if I quit now - with

All my love with all my heart
all my life -

Mary -

F.S. Thanks for the lovely card. I really appreciated the verse on it -
I love you and miss you so very much.
