

Mr. O. P. Hoffstetter Jr.
4115 Naven
St. Louis, 16
Mo.

Mar. 29, 1946
8<sup>00</sup> p.m.

If you are but a dream - I hope I never awaken -

For you do words mean the same at 9 in the morning, at 10, at 11; at 9<sup>00</sup> in the eve, at 10, at nocturnal 12? For like the phenomena of bacterial involution do words take on a more glorious shape. Like the ever beautiful lazily descending fragments of a 4th of July rocket flare do these words sprinkle an earthly mind when inspired by a nocturnal loneliness tinged by the quietude, the moonbeams and the sleepy lagoon; ... like stately snowflakes do these heavenly fragments form a heap of thought phosphorescent with aspirational idealism - For had we can't read in the moonlight - otherwise it may sound so different. For it's in a romantic setting that the sphere of thought and the sphere of thought execution stretch the bonds of binding elasticity. Imagination is a wonderful thing.

I haven't much time today - so this letter will probably be a little short. Mother, Mary Ann and I have started cleaning the upstairs and it's really a job. The boys have model airplanes strung upon strings from the ceiling - banners on the walls and what not until cleaning their room is a man's job. What a life.

Did I hear you say your mother - Jeannine, you and I were to go skating sometime? good!!!

I took my skates all apart this morning - oiled them - tightened them and I'm all ready to go for a while. I'll probably land on my seat the first round 'cause I haven't really skated for a long, long time - but it's really fun and I'm bringing my skates back to St. Louis with me.

"School For Brides" is at our stage theatre now and they're really giving it a good ~~telling~~ billing.

~~The~~ We still haven't heard from Edwin - I sure wish he'd give us some idea as to when he's coming home. The suspense is killing and I'm anxious to get back to St. Louis.

I feel like a caged animal around here. I told mother today that I was going to try to get a case - even if it is monotonous - I just don't like to be idle. I think the law reads that in order to do private duty out of state you have to do general duty 6 months. If that's the case I probably won't - but I thought that since they needed nurses so badly and I explained my situation they might reconsider. And I don't want to do general duty here. I'm prejudiced - Besides I don't think they'd let me do general duty for just the few days I want to work. Oh - I'm all wiped up and I'll probably wind up just sitting here doing nothing until I go back - but I get so darn restless.

Course. we have been house cleaning - but that is every day work as far as a house keeper is concerned. I've been doing some crocheting in the evenings and that passes the time away. I've gotten one towel all done and I'm starting on another one now. It's easy and goes pretty fast. but that probably doesn't interest you.

I suppose you'll be starting your work at the American this week won't you? Just don't you work too hard now and take it easy up there on the fly floor.

Take care of yourself for me, darling - 'cause I'll be loving you always -

I think I have some of the other night's moonlight charm tucked away under the belt someplace - mind if I use it, say "I love you" to it and say a pleasant sweet dream?!

Kutch -