Ollie - my love -

This is just for you.

This is Monday afternoon and it seems that we've been apart for a little eternity.

I've done a lot of thinking about us lately and I don't know what I've done ever in my life to deserve you. If I should die tomorrow, my life could never be more richly blessed. I've had everything this earthly life could give because I'm married to you.

You give so much of yourself that you have become a very necessary part of my life. I know that I would be nothing without you. I've learned and grown to depend on you for everything.

When I am away from you I can't believe that I could ever elect to do it - yet I know that I must serve God first - God has a way of taking away from us that which we love more than Him.

I fear this at times - Knowing how very much I love you and at times I live on your courage - your love - your patience - your virtues. You're so much a better person than I can ever hope to be -

I love you

with all my heart

all my life -

Martha
