Dear "Nursie"

angie —

That is you know name.
What do you say to that?
This letter will be short because I need some sleep. And the old eyes are growing closer and closer.
Did you hear this joke I call it a joke I hope you do.

A woman who had driven the other members of a first-aid class nearly frantic by her continual criticism of the whole idea turned up one morning a complete convert - first-aid training was a wonderful thing, it ought to be compulsory.

"Why," ^{she} said, "yesterday I was sitting at home when I heard a screaming of brakes & then a terrific crash. Two cars had turned over right in front of our gate & four people were lying in the street. One woman had a deep cut in her arm, two men had broken legs, & another severe lacerations (that word is for you) of the face. But thanks beavers, I remembered exactly what you had taught me. So I bent over & put my head between my knees — and I didn't faint!!!

That is pretty bad please for give me.

Well as I told you I was very busy for the last few days that is why I didn't answer your letter before.

I agree with you about good byes. I have now said good-bye to my folks about 12 times and have not yet left this city. So you must know how I ~~feel~~ feel.

I am very happy you had a good time on your vacation.

I have never wanted horseback riding. So what do you say about that. I can just see what I have to look forward too.

I am very sorry that you did not win the horse race. But you should have a race with me.
You would win very easily.

I am very sorry about you & Richard but you did not have to do what I told you to do by dropping that brickbail on him.

Ask Pearl she drop about a dollar or four on me. And I still not get what she just wanted to be friend which we are now. This is from your letter "well I finally had to resort to a brick wall - (but) it worked."
This sound like you like him and dislike to get tell him.

Here is a joke about church.
The nine-year-old son of the a commander listened open-eyed to his Sunday-school teacher's vivid description of the nailing of Christ to the cross. In the ensuing pause, with flushed face & clenched fists he shouted:

 "Well, where in the hell were the marines?" No remarks!!!

You said that Richard gave back your picture, Well you will not get the picture from me. As my last thing I will keep it as a good, in fact very good,
 rem. time I had ~~in~~ writing you.
 Because I never had a date with you. So I can not say the very good time I had with you on a date.

Now I will change the subject did you see the big moon that is out to night it may be there when you get this letter. I don't hope it is there I am sure.

What do you have to say about that?

Yell time is get late. So I will close with another joke I hope you can stand it.

 The title of this joke is "Ladies First" — The members of a hunting party had been specifically requested to bring only male hounds. One indigent member, however, secured only a female, & out of courtesy was kindly permitted to include her. The pack was off in a flash. In a matter of seconds they were completely out of sight. The confused hunters stopped to question a farmer in nearby field, "Did you see some hounds go by here?" "Yes," said the farmer. "See where they they went?" "None," was the reply; "but it was the first time I ever see a fox running fifth"! "What a end to a little."

Love
 H. S. G.
